You are unique
Get an ORCID and connect your research with your name

- ORCID is short for Open Researcher and Contributor ID
- ORCID.ORG is a non-profit organization, transparent, open and non-proprietary
- Unique identifier for researchers, which connects those contributing to the scientific work process with their publications, research data and other products of the research process (such as software)
  - Assigns a transparent, unique, persistent digital identifier to your research results (Author profile)
  - International, multidisciplinary, defacto standard
- Your privacy is protected
- Register free of charge in 30s at http://orcid.org/register ...
  - and mail your ORCID to l.pubdb@desy.de
  - Web of Science, Crossref, Scopus, PubMed, use ORCIDs

DISTINGUISH YOURSELF IN THREE EASY STEPS

1. REGISTER
2. ADD YOUR INFO
3. USE YOUR ORCID ID
Publish your Dissertation

DESY-THESIS-series

• According to the „Richtlinien für das Promotionsverfahren” FB Physik Universität Hamburg (http://bit.ly/2m6kT0C) you must publish your dissertation

• DESY is an (Open Access) publisher since 2001 and has the right to assign ISB-Numbers (ISBN)

• You may publish your defended thesis in the DESY-THESIS-series (See http://library.desy.de/publicationsdesy/ for details)
  • Fill in the DESY form “Auftrag Kopierzentrale” and send it to l.publishing@desy.de
  • Submit your thesis (including fulltext) to the DESY publication database http://pubdb.desy.de
  • Use a CC-BY license for best re-usability (NOT CC-BY-NC!) if possible. Questions: l.publishing@desy.de

→ Open Access Publication

• This will make your research visible and re-usable
• You can additionally submit your publication to a journal
Journal Publications

Publish or Perish

- You must ask for permission before submitting to a journal
  (DESY Publication rules: Link at http://library.desy.de/publicationsdesy/)

- The DESY Directorate asks all scientists to preferable publish in Open Access Journals (http://library.desy.de/open_access/)

- Publications in hybrid journals are not encouraged

- For subscription journals (Closed access)
  - Do not simply sign the copyright transfer agreement !
  - Make sure to keep your rights for your own figures, pictures, … by using a CC-BY license.
    State this explicitly in your paper: „All figures, … by the author under a CC BY license“
  - Elsevier has a „short license agreement“ that they provide on request (contact oxfordcopyrights@elsevier.com or the library l.publishing@desy.de)
  - Use your right to make your own version(s) e.g. the „Post-referee version“ publicitly available in the publication database
  - See also http://library.desy.de/publicationsdesy/recommendations/faq/

- Submit your publication to the DESY publication database (http://pubdb.desy.de) including fulltexts (your own for the public and the publisher version for internal use only)
